

Now imagine, if you can, this story never ends...

The story of you growing, the path on you depends.
The lessons from the animals, the best of what they do,
Is what you want to learn from them, to be the best of you.

Confident and proud, your friends are at your side,
Come out of your shell, show your beauty that's inside.
Remember cherished moments, be kind to family,
Be grateful and be happy, each moment you are free.

Pretend to be invisible or maybe be extinct.
These things are for dreaming, and really make you think.
There is nothing you can't be, no impossibility,
Now imagine if you can, the you that's yet to be ...
