

Imagine me a whale... I'd live 200 years,
All the things that I could do, a giant without fears.
The biggest mammal of them all, but graceful as can be,
I call my friends by singing. I'm heard throughout the sea.

From Alaska to Hawaii, a yearly trek I make,
Spouting water in the air and leaving quite a wake.
I swim as fast as rabbits run and wow can I dive deep,
Hold my breath for ninety minutes, dive 3,000 feet.

The reason I'm a wonder, like you I use my mind,
Even though I'm very big, I'm sensitive and kind.
I love to be ginormous, sounds funny but you'll see,
That big and kind go together—who wants to be me?
